Aims

All python-based; no assumed knowledge

- ✿ Understand basic principles of computer programming, eg. for communicating with devs
- ✿ Basic introduction to designing and building short computer programs
- ✿ Translate "problem statements" into computational algorithms
- ✿ Provide first steps in computing, to feed into more advanced units later on

Assessment

✦ Syntax test

✦ Caesar cipher project, set end of November

✦ PG TAs mark assignments

Teaching format

🔥 Lectures Monday

- ▶ TAs are expected to keep up with these

🔥 Drop-ins on Wednesday; 10 TAs

🔥 1h tutorials Friday

- ▶ Two sessions 9-10, 1-2, 9 students per group
- ▶ Must take attendance

Any preferences for drop-ins?

Your role

- ✎ Check that students completed, understood weekly exercises
- ✎ Facilitate discussion around approaches, problems encountered

Ideas:

- ✎ Pick on students to share their solutions (eg. screen sharing)
- ✎ Build discussion about alternative approaches
- ✎ Make them explain what was hard, any problems they had, how they overcame them

Prep: 1 hour watch lecture video/slides, familiarisation exercises.

If things go wrong

✿ You should ensure you get to know all your students

✿ Any that are struggling academically: notify me

✿ Any that are struggling personally: notify Hemma

Welcome to the MyERP support site

MyERP is the University's integrated Finance, HR, Payroll and Procurement system available to all staff and PGRs. This site is the single source of up-to-date support material, top tips and troubleshooting guidance to help you use MyERP. If a page does not answer your question then on the right-hand side of pages you will see information about related articles and who to contact. All new and substantially changed content on this site is shown on the recent MyERP support site updates and changes page.

As always, the MyERP Yammer group may also have the answers you are looking for.
